MEMORANDUM FOR: Commandant, Defense Intelligence School

SUBJECT: Use of Building T-4

1. With some further modifications in our own plans it appears to me that the schedule of facilities in Building T-4 which you have offered is adequate to support the presentation of courses in information science for FY-1973. The constraints on the use of Classroom 145 and the DIACLS terminals are not critical. We will plan on the use of the secure area terminals and classrooms during the periods which you have made available, as follows:

Schedule of Information Science Courses, FY-1973

Application of Information Science to Intelligence Functions

4 weeks, 11 September to 6 October 1972 and 5 to 30 March 1973
Classroom 100
Terminals, mornings

Management Science for Intelligence

1 week, 13 to 17 November 1972 and 23 to 27 April 1973
Classroom 100
Terminals, mornings

Survey of Intelligence Information Systems

3 weeks, 15 January to 5 February and 21 May to 8 June 1973
Classroom 145
Terminals, mornings

During FY-1973 we would also plan on the use of Classroom 100 (terminals in the morning) for an additional twenty days of instruction for the information science segments of five CIA courses offered at varied times throughout the year. These segments would be scheduled for times when the facilities are available, as indicated by you, and sixty to ninety days advance notice of our requirements will be provided to your office.

DIA and CIA sponsored courses. We recognize that they are only a partial substitute for the DIAOLS terminals and cannot be used for access to classified files, but they can be used to teach the BASIC language, many computer library programs, and computational applications, including a number of specific exercises in the courses of instruction. For some exercises both the DIAOLS and GE terminals can be used, permitting some students to perform the exercises simultaneously, thus easing scheduling problems and reducing congestion in the secure area. Also, terminals are a convenient back-up for some applications when DIAOLS is inoperative. It is my understanding that the only action needed to make these terminals available is the addition of six standard telephones. The terminals are moveable and will require neither dedicated space nor building alterations. CIA feels that retention of the terminals provides useful flexibility and is willing to fund the cost of both telephones and terminals.

3. It is hoped that the schedule proposed in paragraph 1 will be convenient to you. Your efforts to accommodate us are sincerely appreciated and we look forward to a continuing mutual cooperation in the interests of the Intelligence Community and our respective agencies.

4. Our management has asked me to submit recommendations regarding our information science activities for FY-73 on Wednesday, 10 May. With this in mind I will be most grateful if you can convey your views to me by phone after you have had the opportunity to reflect on the contents of this memorandum. A written response is not expected.
